

THE MANHIGAN 1934

LIGHTS!
SOUND!
CAMERA!
ACTION!

Life at Mansfield High School for the year 1934 as viewed through the camera and portrayed in the pages of the Manhigan.

A stadium of rabid rooters—stage just before the curtain rises—Empty excuses for failure to recite—and off to the cafeteria to put on the feed bag—

The mad rush to get your man for the man dance—Nomadic notes of the operetta leads attempting to hit high “C”—

Disheveled desk drawers from the Editor’s hunting the last minute lost story for the “Hypho”—And the last loitering lads and lassies leap into the limelight—

The director, SUZANN HARTENFELS, and her two business managers,

GEORGE TOBIAS and DONALD ZALENKA, get ready “to shoot.”

last minute instructions back

The Manhigan, the year book of the students of Mansfield High School, Mansfield, Ohio, published in the form of a motion picture with its busy directors, producers, technicians, cameramen, yes-men, temperamental stars, and mobs.

More than Managing Directors, these men

DR. W. W. ANKENBRAND,
A.B., M.A., PH.D.

Although Dr. Ankenbrand is comparatively new in Mansfield, he has created a very favorable impression; and we feel that great accomplishments may be predicted for our school system.

We claim the distinction of having the youngest superintendent in any city system of comparable size in Ohio. This is especially significant, considering the qualifications and experience required for such a position.

After finishing his secondary education in West Virginia Wesleyan College Academy in 1917, he attended Marietta College, where he was granted a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1920. He received his M.A. degree from Ohio State University in 1924, and his Ph.D. degree from New York University in 1932.

SUPERINTENDENT

—they are our friends and counselors

JESSE BEER,
B.S., A.B., M.A.

Kind, cheerful, full of pep, and dignified are words which describe Mr. Beer. Nothing we can say would adequately express our love and respect for him. He is ready at all times to help us with our problems, and his benevolent consideration has done much to encourage those in difficulty.

Possessing high ideals, Mr. Beer exemplifies these in his daily life. His sense of fair-dealing, and his belief in the goodness of youth, set him apart as one to whom we can look for sympathy and understanding.

Mr. Beer is splendidly trained for his work with us. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Chicago in 1912; his Master of Arts degree from the Graduate School of Western Reserve University in 1930; and he has carried on advanced work for several summers at the University of Chicago and the Graduate School of Western Reserve University.

A teacher in one sense, yet almost a student when among us—Our Mr. Beer.

PRINCIPAL

Tribute to Board of Education

The Board of Education is deserving of the deepest gratitude of students, teachers, and patrons.

Its members are men who look forward to a perpetual democracy. While all around us, we see the havoc of this depression in the schools, our school, thanks to the careful piloting of the Board of Education, has been guided safely through the trying times. It is evident to everyone that if we want our country to continue to function in the direction that our ideals point, much is dependent on the Board of Education. To this end, our council has ministered.

These members, men of ability, integrity, and superior intellect, are all prominent in the civic life of our community. They have elicited the complete confidence of the citizens of Mansfield. They have sacrificed their time without recompense; and at no time have our schools been more smoothly operated, in spite of financial difficulties. This is due to the true leadership of these men.

Eager youth amazed by the wonders of new worlds.

DEBATE

Students interested in dramatics and who wish to become members of Red Masque must pass the required tryout before they are admitted. Then under the direction of Miss Emma G. Waring they are instructed in the fundamentals of this art. An opportunity to act in plays which are presented at each meeting is given to all. Its members take part in plays for assemblies at various times. The present officers are: Anthony Shylo, president; Suzann Hartenfels, vice-president; Maybelle Warren, secretary; Teddy Appleman, treasurer.

A new organization of our school is the Debate club, which is under the leadership of Mr. Edgar B. Nixon. The club recently presented an interesting debate in assembly—Resolved: That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation. The negative team, Ernestine Baumgardner and Robert Emmer, won the decision of the judges over the affirmative side, composed of Barbara Beer and Robert Amsbaugh. When this same debate was given before the John Simpson Junior High team, the affirmative side won. The alternates are Mason Blosser and Robert Barcroft.

A few weeks ago a No-decision debate was held with Fredericktown. If sufficient interest is aroused next year, our team will try for the state league.

The officers are: Robert Emmer, president; Robert Amsbaugh, vice-president; Barbara Beer, secretary; and Ernestine Baumgardner, librarian.

OPERETTA

SENIOR PLAY

"The Pirates of Penzance," the comic operetta presented in the spring by the musical organizations of the school, was a splendid success.

Frederick, an apprentice to a pirate chief, was played by Richard Warren. The role of Mable Stanley, his heroine, was filled very capably by Jane Wilson. Ruth, a piratical "maid of all work," was cleverly enacted by Maybelle Warren. The part of chief of the pirate band was realistically carried out by Ralph Wadsworth.

Richard Grudier, Pauline Smith, Martha Smaltz, Mary Jane Bellore, Robert Ernst, and John Mayer were others in the cast. The chorus included members of the glee clubs and A-Capella choir.

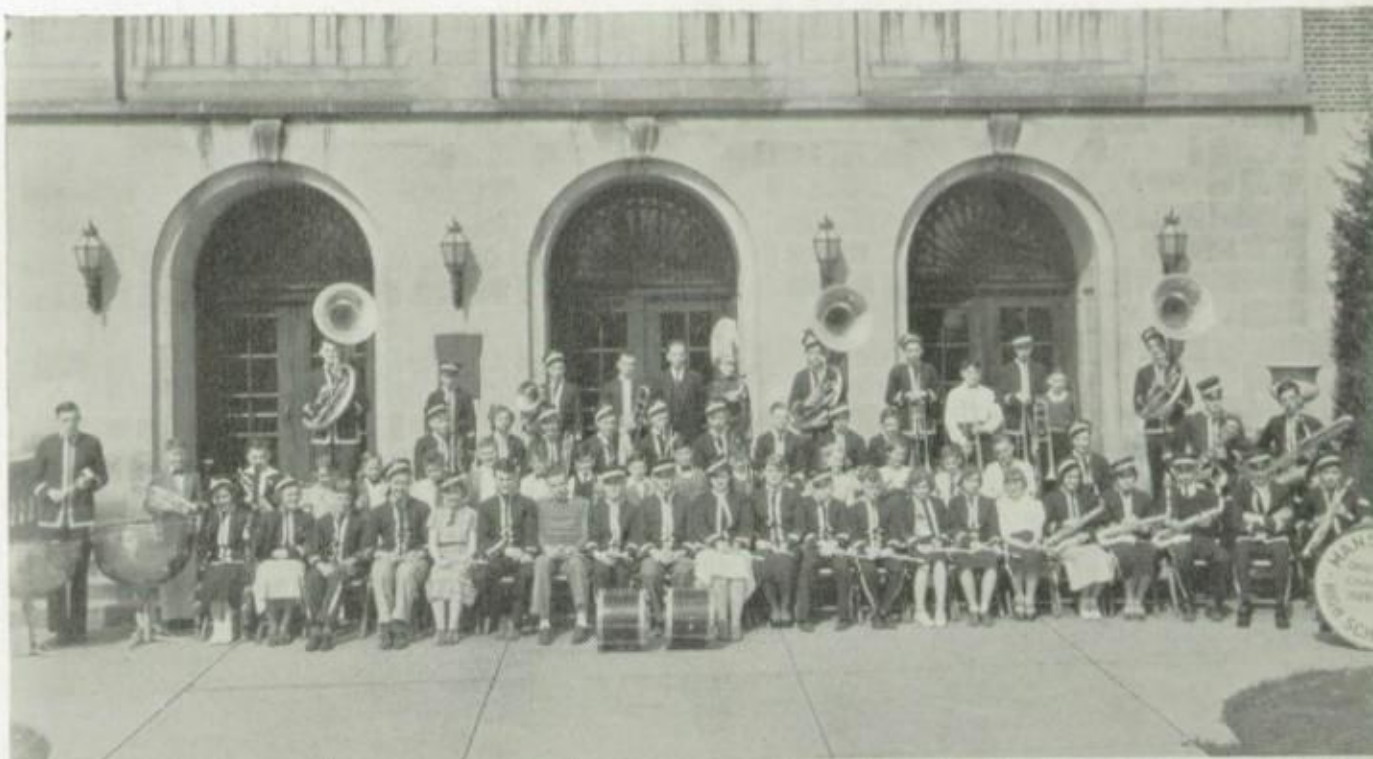

"The Black Terror," which was presented by members of the June graduating class, was a mystery play. The story centered around a family harassed by the mysterious Black Terror. Those who took the roles were: Margaret Hoover, Winifred Seneff, Elizabeth Cole, Mary Katherine Tawse, Aileen Rockenbach, Theodore Appleman, George Tobias, William Stoup, Anthony Shylo, Donald Zelenka, and David Martin.

Successful Season of Activities

The musical organizations, under the direction of Mr. J. Merton Holcombe, occupy an important place in the school life.

The orchestra plays regularly for the school assemblies, which are held once a week, and for special student programs; they also furnish entertainment at civic affairs in the city. The orchestra looks forward each year to certain social functions; there is always a party for members and their guests, which is one of the most anticipated events of the year. The business meetings were conducted this past year by the following officers: Victor Hayden, president; Robert Ernst, vice-president; Edna Yarnell, secretary; and Edward Plato, business manager.

The band adds much to the enthusiasm of the student body, especially at football games, where it plays loyalty songs and other lively selections to pep up the spectators. During the half, the members' skill is displayed by their excellent marching and performing on the field. They were led this year by Mildred Wells, the drum major, who was one of the most capable leaders the school has ever had. The band also entertains at the basketball games during the intermissions and plays at many city functions, such as parades and special outdoor occasions. At several state contests the band has received honors, and many of the members have won individual merits in instrumental competition. The officers for the past year were: Victor Hayden, president; Arlene Wherry, vice-president; Allen Balliet, business manager; and Edna Yarnell, secretary.

The Girls' and Boys' Glee clubs present programs at school assemblies and also at various club meetings throughout the city. Their selections consist of southern songs, hymns, and melodies; and their presentations show careful direction.

The A-Capella Choir is made up of students who are interested in a more advanced study of music. Their repertoire consists mostly of religious selections and classical numbers. The operetta cast and chorus is chosen from this group.

Every spring a clever operetta is given. This year "Pirates of Penzance" was presented by members of the A-Capella Choir. Jane Wilson, Richard Warren, Maybelle Warren, and Ralph Wadsworth played the leading roles. A party is always held for the members of the entire production.

The success of the organizations is due largely to the direction of Mr. J. Merton Holcombe, who has been associated with the Mansfield Schools for twelve years.

HYPHO STAFF

The "Hyphonerian," published every two weeks by students of Mansfield High School, has as its advisors Miss Bertha K. Patterson and Mr. Harry B. Scoles. The editors for 1933-34 were George Sattler and Aileen Rockenbach, with John Poll as assistant editor. John Davey, the business manager, and Anthony Shylo, the circulation manager, have contributed much to the success of the publication.

MANHIGAN
STAFF

The work of producing the 1934 Manhigan was begun by the members of the June graduating class. The January class had been forced to give up the idea of a year book, since such a publication was impossible at that time. However, after it was found that there could be an annual, it seemed no more than fair that the January graduates should be included in the publication.

As pictures were not taken until after the January class' graduation, many of its members do not appear in all of the activity pictures.

Those appointed from the mid-year class to take charge of the book became assistant staff to the already appointed one.

Members of the faculty who have most willingly aided the staff are: Mr. George Sherman, Miss Beatrice McLees, Miss Margaret Gaver, Mr. E. B. Scoles.

Science Labs

BIOLOGY

CHEMISTRY

The study of living things is a very interesting subject; the habits, instincts, and environment of animals, large and small, is fascinating to everyone. To help the students understand the arrangement of the organs in various creatures, the clam, crayfish, and frog are dissected. After seeing the systems of the lower animals, the students can better understand the functioning and structure of their own bodies. The laboratory is equipped with microscopes and tools for dissection work. Many professions such as dentistry, medicine, art, teaching, agriculture, and forestry require a knowledge of biology; so in taking it in high school they are preparing themselves for their life work. The success of the department is due to Miss Aberle, the founder and head of it.

In the chemistry laboratory are found many things of interest to students enrolled in the scientific courses. Mr. Hypes, who teaches the subject, has everything in his lab room that an amateur chemist has need of. Each student has his own individual apparatus with which to work out his experiments. The students work in pairs, thus making it possible to carry out the experiments more completely.

PHOTO CLUB

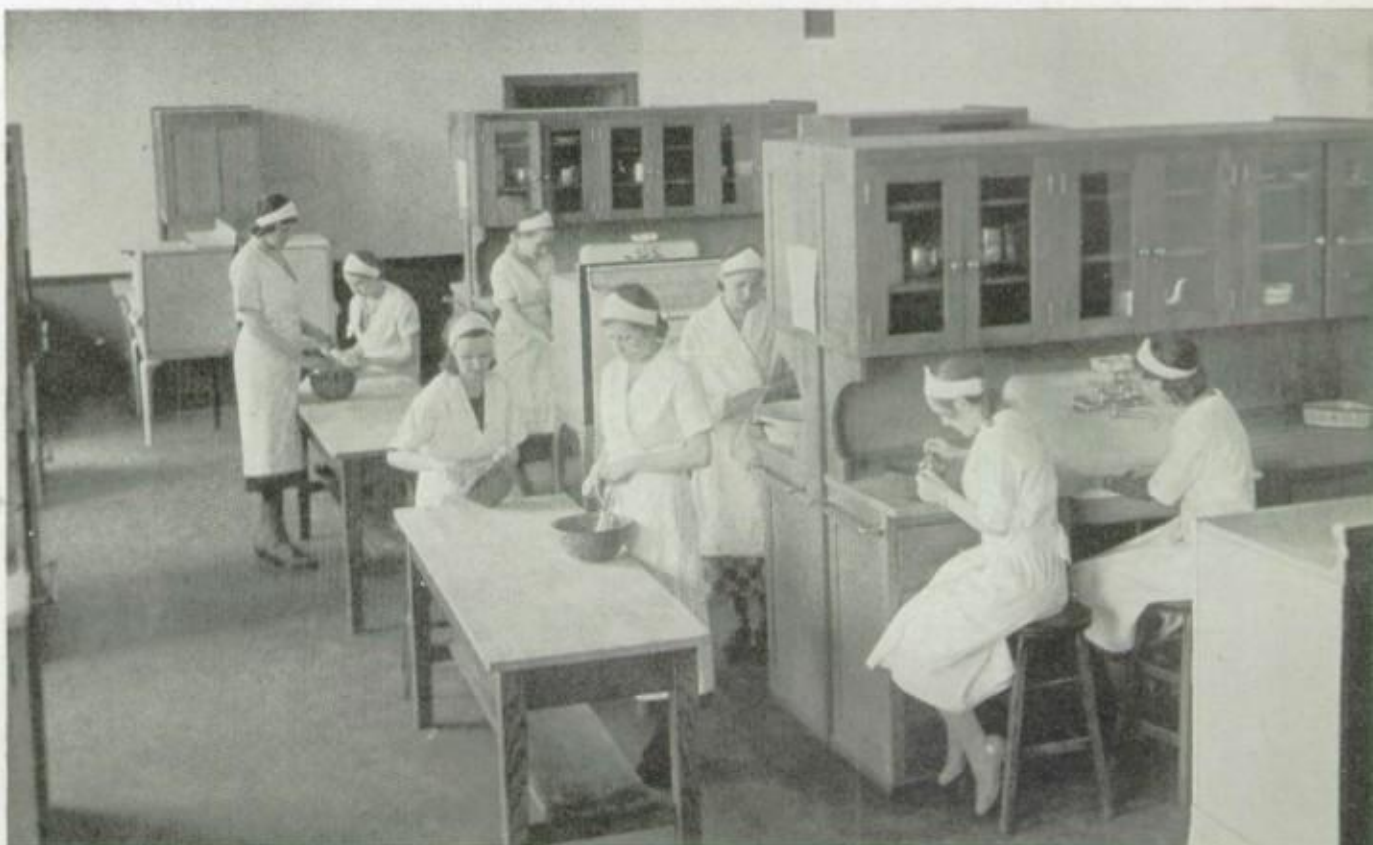

For those who desire to make a further study of chemistry, there is a special class of Qualitative Analysis, taught by Mr. Hypes. These students are given advanced projects to work on. They may, if they wish, attempt to make iodine, cold cream, and such things. Unknown solutions are given to them to which they apply many different tests in order to determine the elements or compounds used.

Mr. Fred Elder is in charge of the Photo Club, which is designed for students wishing to take up photography. A careful study of the camera is made and of how to take various types of pictures. The tinting of pictures may also be learned by those interested. The Photo club is responsible for many of the excellent pictures taken of various school activities, which may often be seen in the case in the main corridor.

CLUB

Girls who enroll in Home Economics are very fortunate in having well-equipped laboratories in which to work. The students are taught sewing, cooking, home decorating, health and sanitation, laundering, and home nursing.

Style shows are presented several times during the year in order to point out to the girls correct wearing apparel for all occasions.

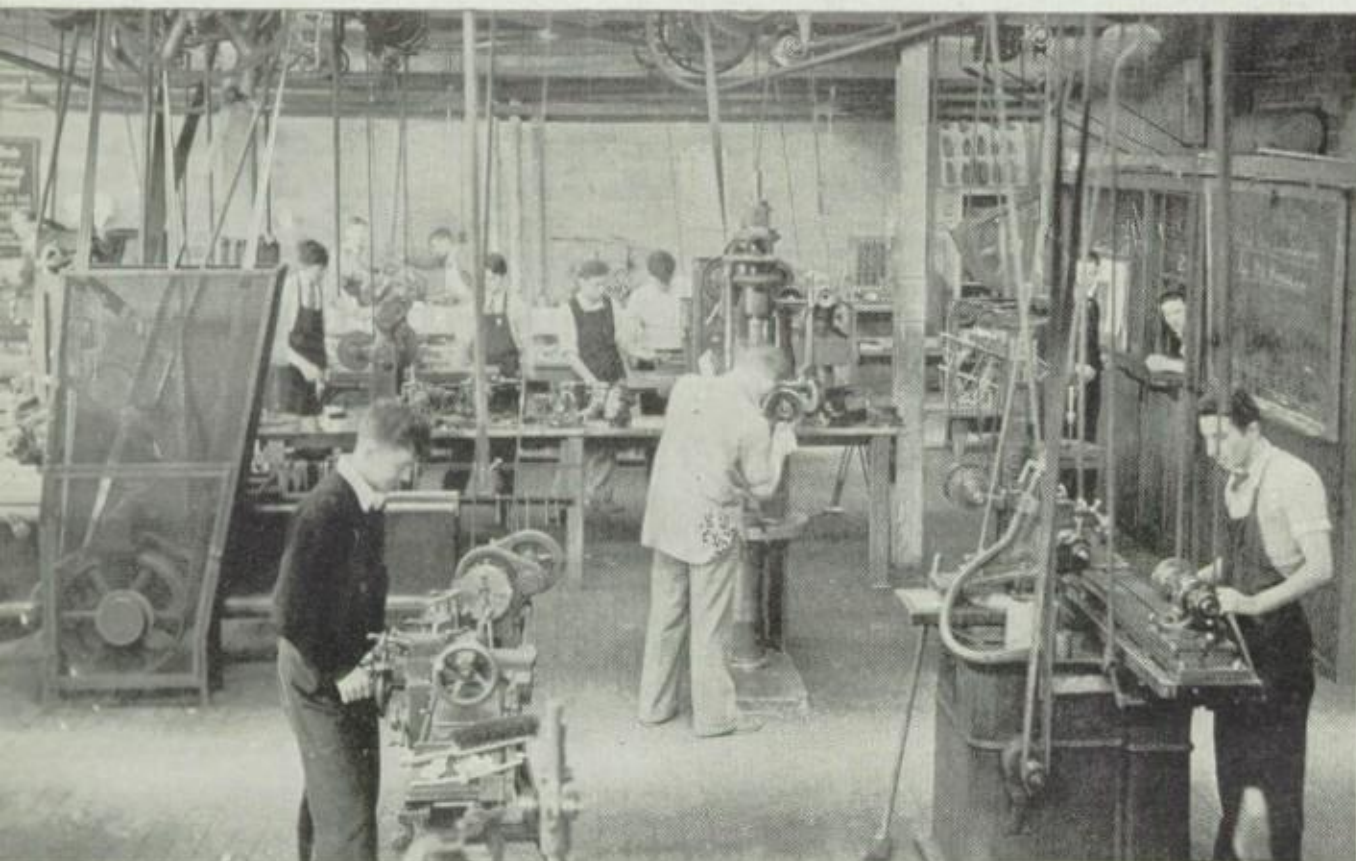

Miss Grace Essex and Miss Ann Sattler teach these subjects.

The Home Economics Club membership is limited to girls who have chosen this particular course. At their meetings, the girls discuss various problems relating to the home. Interesting speakers are secured for their programs. These guests give many instructive points concerning the home, its interior and exterior, correct dress, and also cooking hints. The present officers of the club are: Catherine Mazza, president; Louise Sears, vice-president; Dolores McGraw, secretary; and Anne Nanich, treasurer.

MACHINE SHOP

AUTO SHOP

The Vocational Machine Shop department has been in operation since 1926 and has grown in floor space and enrollment constantly since that time. The class of 1934, sixteen in number, includes some of the best students to date in academic and vocational subjects.

The products of our machine shop are small bench machines, made by lathes, shapers, drill presses, and milling machines for metal work, and band saws, lathes, and jointers for wood work.

The program covers for the senior party were made this year of chromium plated steel, stamped from a die made by Argayle Paul, a member of the class of 1934.

The Automotive shop, which has been in existence only three years, is the youngest department in the school. It is fast becoming popular, however, as shown by the increasing number of registrations each year. This popularity is not confined to the boys alone; recently a number of girls have requested permission to register for the course.

The department is graduating its first seniors this year and, even in these difficult times, a number of the boys have secured jobs in various garages.

CLUB

Der deutsche Verein was organized to promote an interest in the German language. The meetings are devoted to talks on the life and customs of the German people. Sometimes plays are given in that tongue and folk songs are sung; also German literature is read. The club has Mr. Edgar B. Nixon for its advisor and for its officers: Betty Daugherty, president; Martha Fichter, vice-president; Elma Sauder, secretary; George Warner, treasurer.

"Service for Others" is the motto of the Social Science Service club. The members have for their advisor Mr. Vernard D. Coe. The Red Cross and Community Fund contributions from the school are promoted by this group. At Christmas and Thanksgiving time they fill baskets for the needy. By a series of shows money was made this past year to help the Hyphonerian. The club had for its officers: Betty Daugherty, president; Harrison Lowry, vice-president; Anne Nanich, secretary; and John Hattman, treasurer.

COMMERCIAL

PHYSICS LECTURE

The gradual uptrend in business is making a brighter future for the graduates of the Commercial department. It looks as though the students' efforts are to be rewarded; for, while the boys and girls have kept up their spirits nobly during the period of business depression, yet there is an added zeal in looking forward to a definite goal—when the results of hard labor materialize. There is satisfaction in knowing that these young men and women can take their places in the business life of Mansfield, well-equipped because of the splendid facilities of our high school.

The students are interested in learning more about modern business methods and it is the aim of the department to give them that opportunity.

The teachers in this department are: Mr. George Sherman, Miss Beatrice E. McLees, Mrs. Avice Reed, Miss Leotta Hunter, Mr. Harry Scoles, Mr. Lyle Baumgardner, Mr. J. C. Stout.

The Physics department is one of the outstanding departments in our school; it has one of the finest equipped laboratories in the state. Physics is the science that deals with matter and energy and its relationship to the welfare of man. Electricity, light, heat, atoms, natural forces, universal laws, and the many other natural phenomena are studied, so as to give the student a broader knowledge of his universe and immediate surroundings. The physicist is constantly on the alert to harness nature for man's benefit. The department has been advanced to its present position by the hard efforts of Mr. Ketner, the physics instructor.

1933 Football Season

To keep the slate of five undefeated years clean, the Tyger gridders tried their utmost to remain victorious.

The Bengals won their first game from Madison by a score of 33-6.

About four Tygers teams saw service against Akron Kenmore, who fell before them. This made a total of 34 consecutive undefeated games. The next victory was not so easy and the score was 14-6 against a heavy Lima Central team. In this game Dick Lersch made one of the longest kicks ever made by a high school student, while Olin and Zediker scored the touchdowns. Galion was number 36 on the list of victims with a score of 20-0. Ashland, one of Mansfield's traditional rivals, was defeated by the accuracy of Dick Olin's passes and Zediker's receiving to the tune of 20-0. The Men of Murphy were victorious over the Marion Presidents on their own field, making it their 38th victory.

At this point began the downfall of the local team, who up to this time had added six games to the previous record of five years without a loss. In their attempt to capture the 39th game, they were defeated by the Cleveland East team 13-0. This defeat was inevitable, but the spirit of the players was almost broken as they experienced their first loss. In the next game the Tygers played doggedly to nose out a win with Akron Garfield 7-0.

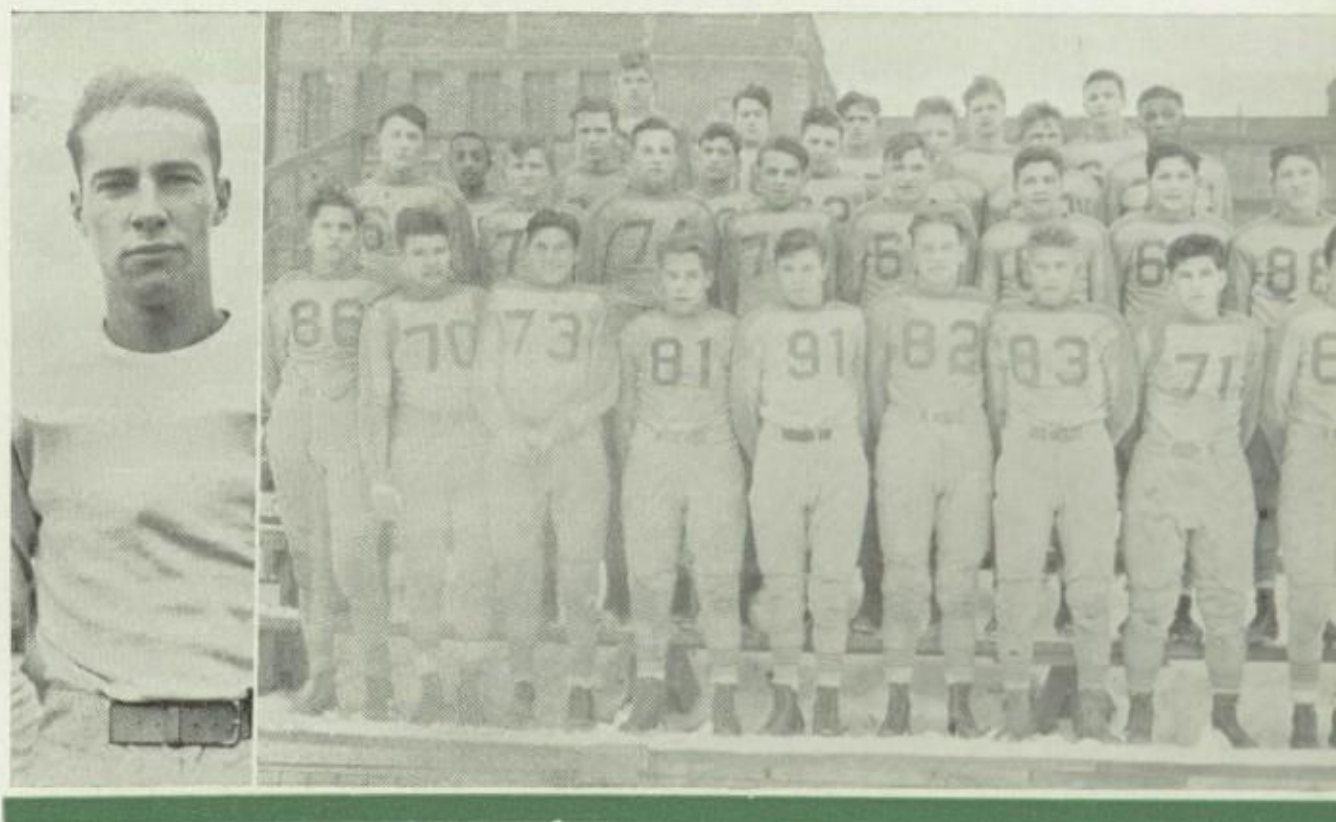

Then came the upset of the season. A tie with Shelby would have been enough to win the N. C. O. League championship, but the discouraged men in red and white played a dull game and lost to a spirited Shelby team 13-12.

A post-season game with Springfield had been arranged. This big, aggressive downstate team had trodden on the best in the state. Coach Murphy roused his players and the entire school backed and encouraged them. They entered this game in perfect condition. The fighting Tygers held the Wildcats scoreless the first half; but they were victims of bad breaks and lost 20-0.

The team was complimented for the wonderful fight they showed in this game.

The Tygers

These stalwart young men fought for the glory of Mansfield Senior High School during the 1933 grid season.

The varsity was composed of: Poole, Boughton, Fekete, Heiser, Miller, Horvath, Stickler, Gene Zediker, Jenkins, Keifer, and Olin. Those who saw about as much service as the varsity were: Lersch, Pittenger, Schuster, Clement, and several others.

Becker Jenkins led the Tygers as captain and proved to be a formidable ball totter as he played left wing back. The unbalanced line and wing-back backfield were used the entire season by the Bengals, although a change of pace in both offensive and defensive charges was made by Coach J. R. Murphy in the course of the season.

Heiser, Mansfield center, received a position on the All-State second team, while Captain Jenkins was placed on the honorable mention. The results of the season follow:

Mansfield.....33	Madison 6

The Cagers

Mansfield opened the 1934 basketball season with John Hay of Cleveland, December 8, with poor prospects for a winning team. Only two regulars from last year's squad were on hand and they were due to graduate at mid-year. These veteran letter-men were Zediker and Stickler. However, we had some promising reserves, who later replaced the ex-stars quite capably. Mansfield grabbed the lead early in the opening period and closed her first game with a 34 to 18 victory.

Getting off to a flying start, the Red Streaks displayed a brand of basketball which will be hard to equal for some time to come, winning ten straight consecutive games over such opponents as Cleveland Glenville, Marion, our old rivals, Shelby and Ashland, and Columbus South. In two or three of these games, it was nip-and-tuck; Mansfield always staged a splendid rally or piled up an insurmountable lead to emerge victorious, however.

Then February 16 (oh memorable day!) in the final non-league game of the season, the Tygers had their winning streak broken when the strong visiting line-up from Lima Central upset the Bengals by a very narrow margin of one point. That the Tygers were affected by this defeat was shown in their second and last upset of the season, Shelby, when they displayed very loose ball-handling, of which the visitors did not hesitate to take advantage. However, in our next game with Ashland, the Murphy-coached team clinched a clear claim to the N. C. O. league title with a 30-20 win. The season ended as auspiciously as it had begun with a 41-18 triumph over Galion.

Looking back over the season with the N. C. O. league championship safely tucked away, twelve games won to two lost, with a total of 14 opponents, Mansfield has a record that will go down with the rest of the good showings that M. H. S. has always made.

Compliments of The John S. Jones Co., Funeral Directors

Cinder Burners

Working around a nucleus of ten veterans, five of whom were lettermen, Coach Mehock succeeded in building up a track team well-balanced in respect to speed, power, and weight, both on track and field. This group of cinder-burners upheld the school's reputation in athletics in the track division exceptionally well.

Opening the 1934 season with Willard, Mansfield emerged victorious, 82½ to 44½, the visitors registering a lone first in the high hurdles. Meeting Newark, Central Ohio's district champion, Lersch and Schuster led the scoring, the Red Streaks piling up 77 points to Newark's 50. Next in line, Fremont, last year's N. C. O. champ, suffered its first defeat in four meets at the hands of Mehock's men, the score being 73 1-3 to 53 2-3.

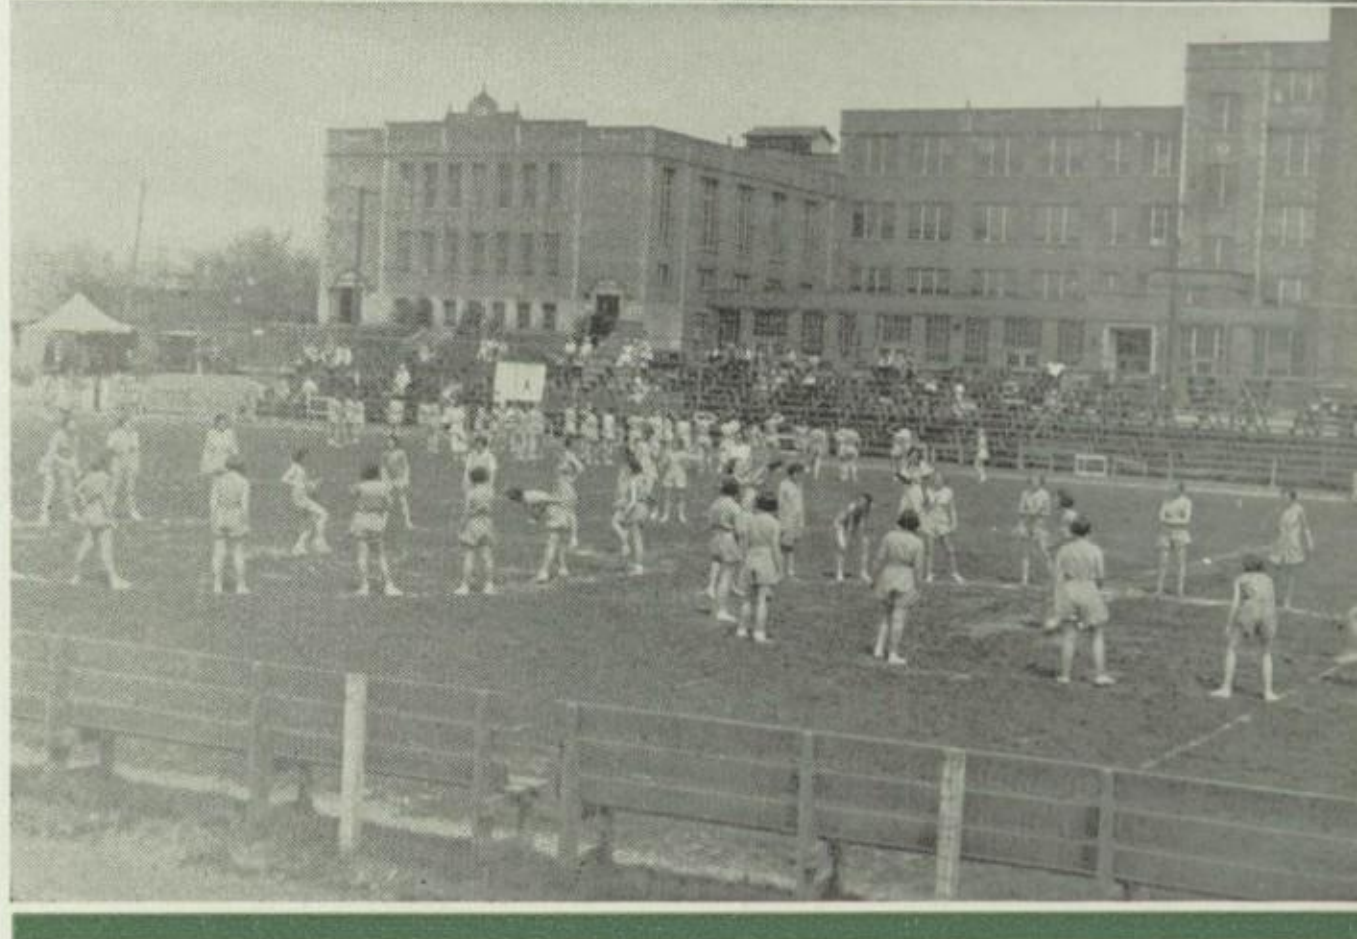

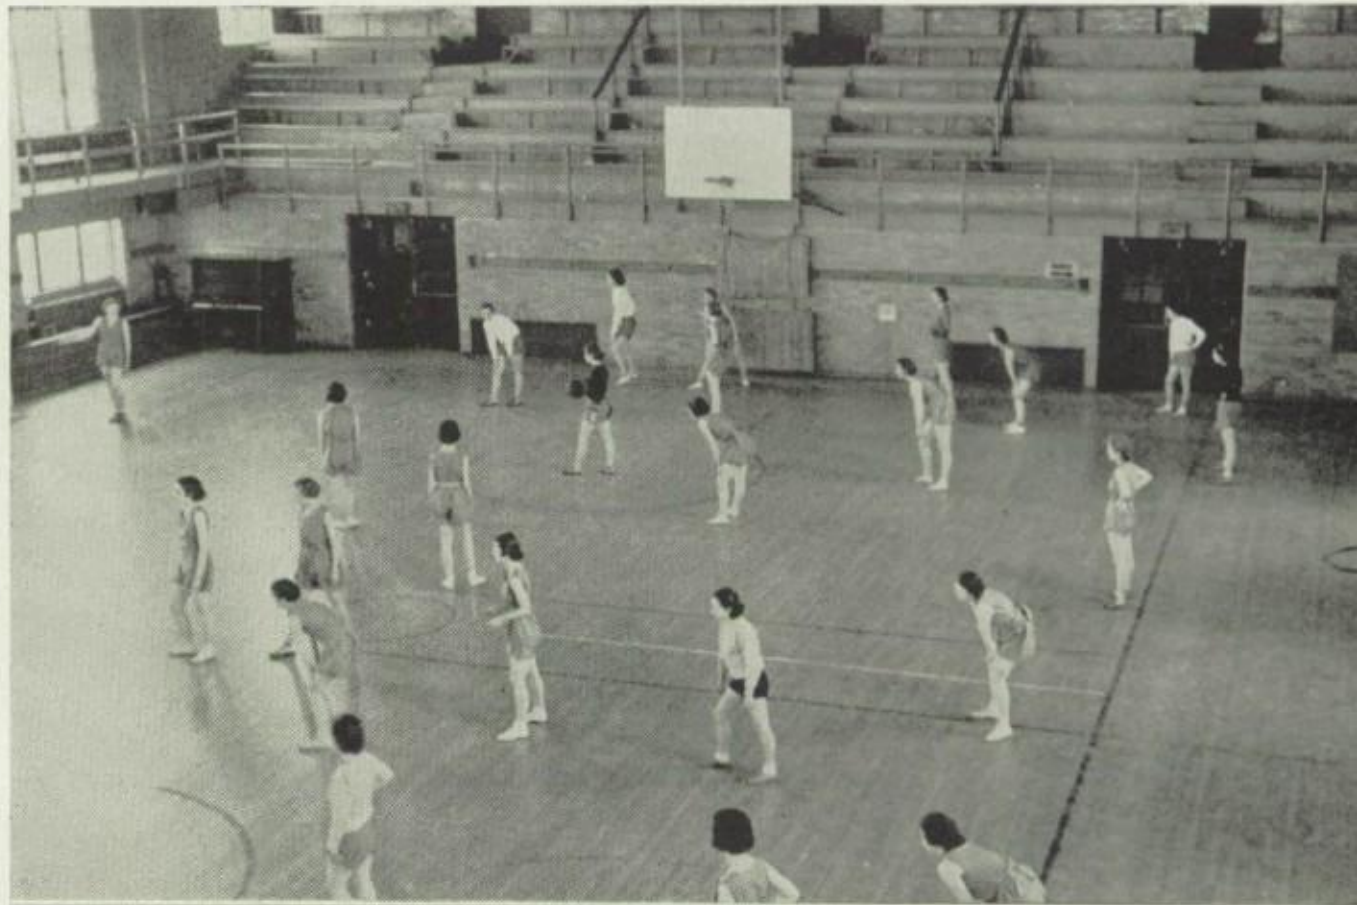

Then came the biggest event on M. H. S.'s track calendar, the Mansfield Relays; this was its eighth consecutive year. Toledo Scott scored first in six events to annex the title, compiling 63.72 points. The Tygers, who won the 1933 edition of the classic by outpointing the Jesse Owens-paced Cleveland East Tech squad by half a point, were in front of the scoring during the early part of the battle; they remained a constant threat until the final minutes of the meet, taking second place with a score of 44½ points. Cleveland East Tech finished third with 36½ markers. Stadium records were lowered in 4 of the 18 events.

Carrying on, the M. H. S. scantie-clads won every event but three to smother the Canton McKinley squad the following Saturday under an 86 to 41 score. At the date of this writing, May 3, there still remain on the schedule Lima Central and the District Meet. The Red Streaks, judging from past performances, ought to "cop" both events. Here's luck to them!

The Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' Athletic Association of 1933-34 has just completed a most successful year of activities.

The first semester the club was under the leadership of Carolyn Finefrock, president. She was assisted by Martha Giffin, vice-president, Evelyn Gross, treasurer, and Treva Shoemaker, secretary. During the fall, soccer and endball were the major sports.

The second semester activities of the organization were conducted by Martha Fichter, president, with other officers as follows: Inga Jessen, vice-president, Evelyn Gross, treasurer, and Clara Hattery, secretary. The spring sports which attracted much attention were volleyball and kittenball.

The outstanding features of the year were the annual "Man Dance" and the Girls' playday; several out-of-town schools participated in the latter event.

As the swimming pool was open to the girls twice a week, it was possible to have free swimming and Red Cross life saving work.

This group is under the supervision of Miss Clapsaddle, who contributed in all ways possible toward the success of the club. At the present time the total membership reaches one hundred thirty-five.

Class History—January, 1934

It was January of nineteen hundred and thirty-one that two hundred and eighteen students, consisting of ninety-nine girls and one hundred and nine boys, completed the second unit of their education at John Simpson Junior High. A few days later those same students entered upon their third unit at Mansfield Senior High with determination to win and succeed.

In the very beginning of our sophomore year, many of our classmates showed exceptional ability in different lines and were admitted to clubs and organizations as members more than willing to work for the advancement of the different groups.

In the first half of our junior year we found that many of our fellow students were leaders of various organizations; and others, ardent supporters. Some excelled in musical groups, such as band, orchestra, glee clubs, and A-Capella choir, while others had high scholastic standing; still others showed ability in science, public speaking, and art.

By various methods the Social Science Service club raised funds and was able to give assistance in many ways. Not a few of our group served on the Hyphonerian staff during their stay at this school. Many a presentation of the Red Masque club owes its success to the members of our class, furnishing us many hours of enjoyment and wholesome entertainment.

Athletics is for both boys and girls, we are glad to state, who have equal opportunities in their respective sports. Since the boys and girls of today are the leaders of tomorrow, how better prepare them by inculcating in them the principles of fair play, clean sportsmanship, and wholehearted cooperation. All the sports and games that teach alertness and the ability to cope with situations are, at the same time, building strong bodies.

Also during the latter part of our junior year, we organized and elected class officers; and most important to our welfare was the choosing of a faculty advisor, whose untiring efforts and advice to our committees made our events a success.

Many enjoyed the Junior-Senior Prom given in March, 1933; this was hailed as the outstanding social event of the year.

In "Sonia," an operetta given by the musical organizations, many of our classmates were found to have prominent parts.

It was on June seventh, we, as 12B's, attended a picnic at Camp Avery Hand, which was enjoyed by all.

After our vacation, we came back in September to complete the last part of our unit of education at Mansfield Senior High School. At this period, activities of our group became more numerous; and, as a whole, our class was bound more closely together.

Our play, "Skidding," was presented on November 24, 1933, by a most capable cast. The play pictured a typical American family with both political and matrimonial troubles.

The outstanding social event was held December 16. This was a banquet, program, and dance attended by 127 classmates. A blue lighting effect, crystal hangings from the ceiling, and silvered ever-green trees were effective decorations which made the setting for our party a crystal cave. From all standpoints, the party was a great success and enjoyed by all.

At this time in our history, it is fitting to state that during our stay at this school we were bereaved at the passing of one of our dear teachers, Mr. Kramer. Also another teacher, Miss Ruess, dear to all of us, retired from the teaching faculty of this school.

Now we come to another class day; we are at the end of our third unit of education. Our ranks have been depleted through various reasons, but some of these vacancies have been filled by groups from other schools and classes. Now we number sixty-nine boys and sixty-nine girls. Thinking back over the past three years that this class has spent in a building so well equipped, offering so many advantages and opportunities for all, with a group of teachers always ready to help us, brings back many memories dear to all of us. Commencement marks the ending of the class of January '34 as a whole, but it also marks the beginning of the history of each individual of the class.

"For life is the mirror of king and slave;
'Tis just what we are and do;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you."

Class History—June, 1934

Train number 1934 is now entering the yards of the great metropolis of Graduation with a full capacity of one hundred ninety-six passengers, and a crew consisting of joint engineers, Mr. and Mrs. Hypes; conductor, Robert Morrison; fireman, Allen Balliet; car inspector, Lois Baughman; and brakeman, George Tobias. It is due June 8, at the Commencement Street Station, where all the passengers must change for the various trains of Life.

Two hundred sixty-six students started on this journey on September 8, 1930; but many passengers disembarked, while others boarded the train at various stations along the way. One fatal day near the beginning of the trip, the last car was derailed, bringing death to two of the well-liked members of the class, Gallie Mattison and Coleman Todd.

The train carries super-super-de luxe equipment. There is a series of club cars in which many of the students exhibited their various talents in dramatics, social science, art, music, journalism, home economics, languages, athletics, and other recreations.

All the social functions, of which the 9-A class party and the Junior-Senior Prom were the most outstanding, took place in the dining car.

In the theater car that blood-curdling mystery play, "The Black Terror," was very successfully held.

One night near the end of the trip, there was a brief stopover at the Grand Hotel for the Senior Class party, and now, at last, after a most enjoyable trip, one hundred ninety-six citizens are ready to face bravely the trials of the world. Some will succeed—some may fail; regardless, they will all look back with pride on this momentous trip.

Class Poem—January, 1934

Goodbye, Dear Mansfield High!

There's nothing left for us to do but now to say good-bye,
And we know that we will miss you, Mansfield High.
For you've been our guide and helper in the years that we've been here;
And it's hard to leave behind us everything that we've held dear.
We hope that in a measure we have added to your fame,
And that those who follow after will be worthy of your name.
Our athletes on field and floor have done their best for you,
The artists, actors, writers, singers, all added their share, too.
Right here it seems most fitting that we should consecrate
A space to our long-suffering teachers, try to show we appreciate
All the trouble they have taken to see us safely through,
And though at times our case seemed hopeless, for your patience, we thank you.
So let us take one last farewell of the old familiar place,
For never more as students its hallways we shall grace.
The day is here and we must go, but wherever we may be
In years to come, you'll still remain a lasting memory.
